Miller Minigrant Proposal

Student Art Show in GRIT on Elliwood

Over the course of the past month, I have been organizing a student art show that will take place in GRIT Coffee House on Elliwood on the UVA corner. The show will include my work, as well as the work of fellow Miller Art Scholars, Emma Lewis and Corrinne James. I am requesting $500 in the form of a Minigrant to help cover the costs of framing my work and providing food at the opening reception. I am also requesting funds to rent the facility one night during the show to host an open mic night/ closing reception event.

The work will be hung during the week of October 7th. The opening reception has yet to be determined; however, it will most likely be during the weekend of Oct. 20th - Oct. 22nd. I have already been in contact with the art director of GRIT about this project. Corrinne, Emma, and I will each be showing approximately seven pieces. The show will be up for two months. During the opening reception, I plan to have a couple of local student musicians play.

My goal for this show is to incorporate as many creative students as I can. It is so important to foster collaborative and creative communities. I hope to join and promote my friends' poetry, music, and art.
